

Air & Ocean Shipment Tracking

One clear view of all your shipments

Track your worldwide shipments on a single platform to reduce delays and increase supply chain flexibility.

Start free trial

All the data you need, in one place

With one independent overview of your air and ocean freight shipments, you can use insights to reduce the impact of delays and get the flexibility to choose freight forwarders without compromising visibility.

Shipment overview

Track all your shipments on one user friendly platform

Get real-time updates on all your shipments on one easy-to-use interface, real-time alerts when issues arise and information anyone in your organization can understand, regardless of shipping term.

Smarter data

Use reliable data, independent of logistics providers.

Shared access view

Share access with people within your organization or externally.

Predicted arrival times

Use AI-powered data to see delays before they happen

Our data combines vessel GIS position, live port congestion, weather information and historical data to give you more accurate milestone information than what you receive from your freight forwarder.

Customer-focused

Use data insights to improve your operations

Minimize disruptions

Avoid demurrage and detention costs.

Extensive network coverage

Follow all air and ocean shipments regardless of carrier

Find data on all your shipments regardless of port by using just the container number or air waybill, with extensive coverage of 120+ ocean freight carriers and 170+ airlines.

Uniform insights

Get comparable data on all your shipments, regardless of carrier or shipping term.

99% of all shipments

Our network covers almost all shipments worldwide.

Frequently Asked Questions

How does the predicted data work?

Where can I track shipments to and from?

How often can I receive air and ocean freight updates?

Are there additional charges for the number of shipments tracked?

How quickly can I start tracking shipments?

Am I dependant on my logistics provider's tracking system when using Moddule?

Start your free trial now

Get a 30-day free trial for shipment visibility, with no contracts and no long-term commitments.

Start free trial

Get started in a few minutes

Simply fill out our sign up form with your company details to get started.

No credit card needed

We don't ask for credit card details for the free trial, so you can get started straight away.

No commitment

Simply fill out our sign up form with your company details to get started.